

Join the ideas explosion!

Do you teach some young scientists or engineers who deserve recognition? If they're 11-18 with a great project or invention... enter the National Science & Engineering Competition.

There's over £50,000 of prizes, including cash awards and trips abroad – plus the prestige of winning a high profile competition for your school or college and the teachers involved. What's more, the best entrants will showcase their work to around 13,000 students, teachers, journalists and VIPs visiting The Big Bang: UK Young Scientists' and Engineers' Fair in Manchester in March 2010.

Go to www.nationalsciencecompetition.org
Closing date: 30 October 2009.

national science+ engineering competition

The Big Bang

BIS

Department for Business Innovation and Skills

Young Engineers

CREST Awards

Science: [So what?
So everything]